ALLIES AND TURKEY REACH AGREEMENT ON NEAR EAST SITUATION

Report Says Protocol is Signed Wednesday Afternoon at Mudania—Early Advices Are Conflicting.

Constantinople, Oct. 4.—Official announcement was made this afternoon that Ismet Pasha, representative of the Turkish nationalists, has agreed to the main peace and armistice proposals of the allies at Mudania. It is not anticipated that there will be any serious difficulty in reaching an ultimate settlement.

Up to 4:20 o'clock this afternoon the British foreign office had not received any official confirmation of the report that an armistice agreement had been reached.

London, Oct. 4.—Ismet Pasha, representative of Mustafa Kemal Pasha and the allied generals, are reported to have reached an armistice agreement at Mudania and to have signed a protocol, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Constantinople this afternoon.

(Paris advices earlier in the day had stated that the armistice negotiations had been postponed owing to the delay of some of the Greek delegates in reaching the scene.)

A dispatch from Paris quoted an official statement as saying that the Turks had "accepted the allied note." This was taken to mean that the Turkish nationalists had agreed to the allied armistice terms.

Athens, Oct. 4.—Colonel Plastiras, Greek representative in the armistice negotiations at Mudania, has been instructed to notify the Turks that the Greek troops will not be withdrawn from Thrace. It was authoritatively learned today. The classes of 1917 and 1918 are being called up.

Evacuation of Christian refugees from Smyrna is practically completed. All Americans in the Smyrna district are said to be safe.

EMBARGO DECLARED BY P. R. R. ON ALL FREIGHT IN XENIA

Perishable Goods Alone Accepted—Volume Too Great

Owing to a congestion in the yards because of the immense volume of business being handled, an embargo on all freight with the exception of perishable goods, is in effect on the Pennsylvania Lines here.

The embargo went into effect Monday, and the order calls that it be in existence for a week. Freight officials believe the order will be lifted so that all freight will be accepted the first of next week.

Because the Pennsylvania was one of the roads least affected by the shopkeepers strike, much of the business usually handled by other roads, has been thrown to the Pennsylvania. As a result that company has been enjoying an unusual volume of freight shipping, necessitating the addition of many new crews, and many new trainmen have been hired.

In spite of the extra amount of train help, the yards here have become congested it is said, with the volume of freight business to handle, so that it is necessary to place an embargo until the business can be handled.

As a result of the Pennsylvania embargo, business has greatly increased over the Baltimore and Ohio Company here, many shipments being consigned over that road that would have otherwise been shipped over the Pennsylvania system.

WOMAN FOUND UNCONSCIOUS
Columbus, Oct. 4.—Living alone, Mrs. Mary Mackey, 60, was found unconscious, stricken with apoplexy at 245 N. Main St. In the house $247.11, her savings, were found. The money was carried to police headquarters for safe keeping. Mrs. Mackey was taken to St. Anthony's hospital. She is not expected to recover.

LORENZ COMES BACK FOR OPERATIONS

Dr. Adolf Lorenz, the famous bloodless surgeon from Vienna, has returned to America to continue his work here, in thanks for American aid to Austria. His son, Albert, at his left, already is a practicing physician, while his other son, Conrad, is to complete his studies at Columbia University, New York.

Polo Ground, New York, Oct. 4.—Up until the fatal eighth, the fast-paced ball game of Joe Bush, the donation of Harry Frazee's Red Sox to the Miller Huggins crowd, who won 26 games in the junior league this season, were settling the Giants down in a rapid-fire order. In the meantime, Huggins' clouters had gotten to the southpaw slants of Art Nehf, McGraw's forkhanded pitching ace, and had piled up a two run lead by connecting for tallies in the sixth and seventh.

ATTEMPT TO LEARN WHERE EMBEZZLED MONEY WAS SPENT

Alleged "Woman Ponzi" On Verge of Collapse in Meigs Co. Jail.

Pomeroy, O., Oct. 4.—"Claims received today against Mrs. Susan Kraus bring the total to more than $400,000," A. W. Lee, attorney for the creditors declared today. "More bombs will be exploded right along. We now know where some of the money has gone. There are some assets left. One Pomeroy business man holds the notes of the woman for $150,000."

M. A. Kraus, a son, was to be taken before the grand jury this afternoon, upon his arrival from Cleveland, where he had gone in a fruitless effort to arrange bond. His resignation as secretary of the Meigs county building and loan company was announced late yesterday.

Pomeroy, O., Oct. 4.—Did nearly $300,000, received by Mrs. Susan Kraus, for investment from Pomeroy and Meigs County residents go to enrich the bookmakers? This is the question which officials of Meigs County are now trying to solve, following failure to find any property except a mortgaged home standing in the name of the alleged "woman Ponzi" who remains in the county jail here today while the grand jury is expected to return indictments charging embezzlement and forgery.

The theory that "bookies" may have received the greater part of the vast sums entrusted to the woman was advanced in connection with the belief that others besides Mrs. Kraus might have had a part in the disposition of the funds, and the considerable sums spent by her in almost daily telephone calls to Columbus, where, at all, officials believe her accomplices lived.

Meanwhile Judge A. P. Miller of the Common Pleas Court has issued strict orders that no one can see her, or her husband held in the same cell. Since breaking her fast of four days, her voice can be heard bemoaning the disgrace. Her husband also is said to be on the verge of physical collapse and in an adjoining cell, their son, George of Columbus, a telegraph operator is held as a material witness.

Fearing her complete collapse, authorities directed the county nurse, Miss Nelle Bing, to minister to her in her cell. She refused her aid and when the nurse departed, said "don't let that woman come back. She'll murder me."

SEEK PHARMACY FOR CINCINNATI SCHOOL
Cincinnati, Oct. 4.—Interested citizens who have felt the lack of a school pharmacy in connection with the University of Cincinnati Medical College tendered an offer to the board of trustees of the university yesterday to erect and equip such an institution through popular subscription and then turn it over to the university. The only thing required of the trustees was that they furnish a site on university campus. The proposal was referred to the dean of the medical college for investigation and report.

JOINT COMMITTEE TO WORK OUT SCALE
Cleveland, Oct. 4.—Appointment of a joint committee of operators representing the bituminous coal operators of the United States and the United Mine Workers of America to work out a scale for submission to a joint conference next January was expected today as the joint body reconvened for its third day's session.

U. S. SHOULD KEEP OUT OF NEAR EAST MUDDLE SAYS LADD

Senator, Fresh From European Town Declares French to Blame

Washington, Oct. 4.—"Beyond looking after our own interests and using our moral influence to help preserve peace, we should keep out of the Near Eastern situation."

Fresh from an extended tour of Europe, which he visited as a member of the congressional delegation to the inter-parliamentary union conference at Vienna, Senator Ladd, Republican of North Dakota, made this declaration today to the International News Service.

During his nearly two months he spent overseas, Senator Ladd said he observed enough of economic chaos and the conflict of racial and religious hatreds to convince him that the United States had better stay out of Europe.

He expressed the belief that the Turkish crisis would be adjusted but that it was not "war once started was likely to involve all of southeastern Europe and bring about widespread destruction and revolution."

France, he blamed for lending the Turks support "morally and with guns." The French politicians, he censured for "hysterically insisting upon the destruction of Germany and in attempting to transform France into the dominant militaristic nation of continental Europe."

"The United States would not be justified in relinquishing one iota of the indebtedness of France and other European nations," Ladd said. "To consent to a cancellation of any part of that indebtedness would simply encourage France, for example, to continue to maintain an immense standing army which now approximates 700,000 men, or more."

"Let France go to work with the same degree of earnestness that Germany is showing. France has not yet gone to work. She has shown no disposition to reduce her army or pay her debts. She is playing politics. She is in the midst of a dangerous game which is bound to react unfavorably upon her, sooner or later."

"The encouragement she gave the Turks is likely to prove a boomerang to France, for if the worst comes to the worst, it would not be surprising in view of the unrest so prevalent in Germany, Austria and Hungary, if the peoples in those countries should unite with the Russians and the Turk and turn against the so-called allies."

"France is pushing matters so far that the situation is certain to react to her great disadvantage in the end. She is riding to a serious fall. I found the French peasants still friendly to us, still reminding of what our 'doughboys' did for them, but Paris was unmistakably anti-American when I was in Paris an American could not help feel the unfriendly feeling the French politicians have engendered against the United States."

"In my opinion, the Versailles treaty is still the curse of all Europe. It was destructive of the natural economic units of central Europe, for example, and until the wrongs committed at Versailles are righted there can be no assurance of permanent peace. Austria is crushed and helpless. The German people are poverty stricken. Hungary is on the brink of momentary revolution."

"The league of nations has done nothing and is doing nothing to avert the impending social and political debacle which seems inevitable unless something is done soon to set Europe's house in order. Revolution is in the air. Only a few days before I reached Vienna an infuriated, hungry mob of thousands stormed the 'good shops' and hotels and seized everything edible."

Famine and want are goading the peoples of central Europe to desperate remedies."

MESSAGE SENT BY HARDING TO BANKERS
New York, Oct. 4.—America's appreciation of the constructive service of her financial institutions was voiced by President Harding today in a message to the American Bankers' Association, now in session in this city. The president emphasized the opportunity that bankers have had in the critical days since the war in assisting the progress of the country.

Mr. Harding regretted that he was unable to come to New York to attend the convention.

GRANT AMNESTY
Dublin, Oct. 4.—The Irish provisional government today issued a proclamation granting amnesty to all rebels who lay down their arms by Oct. 15. It is believed that this offer will make serious inroads in Eamon deValera's irregular forces but it is unlikely that the leaders will surrender.

BLANKET INDICTMENT AGAINST FUNDERBURGH AND DEPUTIES RETURNED

Funderburgh, Day, Burns and Simms Also Charged With Shooting With Intent to Kill and Shooting With Intent to Wound.

BOND IS FIXED BY THE COURT AT $2,500

Unanimous Verdict Rendered by 15 Members of Jury In Report Made Public Wednesday Morning—Rev. Culp Also Indicted.

Sheriff Lincoln Funderburgh, Deputy Sheriff Joe Day, William Burns, former manager of Kil Kare Park and a special deputy and Patrolman Charles Simms, were indicted for murder in the second degree in connection with the fatal shooting of Volney Nichols, 18, on the night of September 5, by the Greene County Grand Jury which reported at 10:45 o'clock Wednesday morning.

A joint indictment for second degree murder was returned against the four officers, the fifteen men and women composing the Grand Jury, agreeing in that verdict with the verdict of Dr. R. L. Haines, county coroner, rendered after the inquest here several weeks ago. The four men at that time were released from custody under $2,500 bond each. Sheriff Funderburgh and Mrs. Funderburgh signing all of the bonds.

In addition to the blanket indictment for murder in the second degree, the Grand Jury returned two separate indictments against each of the men. The separate indictments charge shooting with intent to kill and shooting with intent to wound, naming each of the four men specifically, and making a total of nine true bills found against the four officers out of 16 true bills returned by the jury.

Prosecutor Williamson can elect to prosecute the accused men under any one of the indictments returned against them.

The four men named in the second degree murder indictments were brought before Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and their bonds were each fixed at $2,500 each, the same as fixed at the time the charges were preferred. The same bonds were continued, with the agreement of counsel for the state.

The accused men waived service of a copy of the indictments and also waived reading of the indictments Wednesday afternoon, and on plea of their attorneys, were given until October 14, to prepare and file a motion to quash the indictments. Judge Marcus Shoup, of the defendants' counsel, indicated that defendants' attorneys are preparing an objection on the ground, that the prosecuting witness was allowed in the grand jury room during the investigation and because petitions are being circulated for money to provide a fund with which to retain an attorney to assist the Prosecutor, who was also permitted in the Grand Jury room.

The defendants are represented by a battery of counsel including Judge Shoup, Judge C. H. Kyle, Harry D. Smith and P. L. Johnson. Prosecutor Williamson and Attorney C. L. Darlington represented the state in the Court Room Thursday afternoon.

The indictments represent another chapter in the shooting case on the Wilmington pike on the night of September 5 which resulted in the death of one boy and the serious wounding of two others, when Funderburgh and his three deputies opened fire on a group of boys who were engaged in a practical joke on the pike early in the evening.

Feeling ran high in the community after the affray which cost the life of Volney Nichols, 18, and placed his brother, Dorsey, 16, and Warren Middleton in the hospital for several weeks. A three-day coroner's inquest in which about 50 witnesses were examined developed the testimony that the boys, with five others were engaged in playing a joke on passing motorists with an old auto tire wrapped to resemble a new one, and that they had been fired at by the sheriff's posse without being ordered to halt. Following the coroner's verdict, that the men were not justified in the shooting, the quartette was arrested and bound over to the Grand Jury under $2,500 bond each.

The Grand Jury according to its report, submitted by Charles Kinsey, Xenia Township foreman appointed by the Court, examined 68 witnesses and investigated 11 cases, returning 16 true bills and ignoring one case. Besides the true bills returned against the officers involved in the shooting, the officers involved in the shooting were returned against W. W. Culp, former Spring Valley minister, who eloped with Esther Hughes, June 14, for removing mortgaged property from the county.

The indictment against Culp is based on a charge of removing mortgaged property originally filed in Montgomery County Courts by the Ballard Sales Co., of Dayton, which company holds a mortgage on the machine in which Culp staged his elopement. Culp was arrested on the charge in Dayton recently but later released, the Montgomery Courts being without jurisdiction because the deed was committed in Greene County. The case was then referred to Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson, who brought it before the Grand Jury. Culp will now be haled up on two charges in local courts. He will have a trial here October 10, in the court of Judge J. C. Marshall, for non-support, and will also have to stand trial on the criminal offense of removing mortgaged property.

Other indictments returned by the jury are: Elvia Sullinger, shooting with intent to kill; McKinley Harrison, uttering a forged instrument; Harry Painter, unlawful conversion of property; David Pettiford, obtaining money under false pretense; M. H. Abian, obtaining property under false pretense and William S. Unglesby, removing mortgaged property.

Sullinger, who was indicted for shooting with intent to kill is said to have wounded three people in an argument at 813 East Main Street, August 30. He is said to have shot Choice Kennedy, 31, Mrs. Eula Kennedy, 35, and Mrs. Grace D. Roberts, 68, all of 813 East Main St., with a revolver and was himself shot by Kennedy with a shot gun. Kennedy was arrested and later dismissed.

The Grand Jury was in session two full days and part of the third, being assembled Monday morning. Wednesday morning the jury made the usual inspection of the County Jail, and recommended that the white washing of the jail interior be completed. The cases were presented to the jury by Prosecuting Attorney Williamson and Attorney C. L. Darlington, special counsel appointed to assist the Prosecutor.

The personnel of the Grand Jury is as follows: Charles Kinsey, Xenia Tp. foreman; Catherine McCurran, Xenia; Fred Dobbins, Cedarville Tp.; C. P. March, Xenia Tp.; S. W. Hartman, Beavercreek Tp.; Ethel A. Johnson, Beavercreek Tp.; Herbert T. Corry, Miami Tp.; Mrs. Mattie Smith, Spring Valley; Mrs. Agnes Thompson, Beavercreek Tp.; Mrs. Winnifred Armstrong, Xenia; Mrs. Eva Wright, Cedarville; Lee Ledbetter, Xenia; Earl E. Boxwell, Xenia; R. D. Adair, Xenia and J. Thorb Charters, Xenia.

After making his report the jury was thanked by the Court and excused for the present, subject to call if needed again at any time.

EXTREMISTS GAIN ITALIAN CONTROL

Milan, Oct. 4.—Extremists have gained control of the Italian socialist party according to word today from Rome, where the annual socialist congress is being held. The "moderate reformists" are said to have been expelled from the party.

Rome, Oct. 4.—A conspiracy of the Italian fascists to seize ministerial power in Rome was reported to have been discovered today. According to the plans the fascists, at the forthcoming celebration of Italy over the defeat of Austria were to mobilize in this city, seize all public buildings, dissolve parliament, call a general election and summon the king to form a new cabinet with nationalist aspirations.

Polo Ground, New York, Oct. 4.—Staging a brilliantly eighth-inning rally such as has made them justly famous, the New York Giants won the first game of the new season, defeating the Yankees 3-2.

The Giants waited until the eighth inning to get their first run, when they scored on a sacrifice fly by Art Nehf, McGraw's righthanded pitcher, and had piled up a two run lead by connecting for tallies in the sixth and seventh.

Up until the fatal eighth, the fast-ball shoots of Joe Bush, the donkey of Harry Frazee's Red Sox to the Miller Huggins crowd, who won 26 games in the junior league this season, were setting the Giants down in rapid-fire order. In the meantime Huggins' clouters had gotten to the southpaw slants of Art Nehf, McGraw's righthanded pitching ace, and had piled up a two run lead by connecting for tallies in the sixth and seventh.

Alleged "Woman Ponzi" On Verge of Collapse in Meigs Co. Jail.

Pomeroy, O., Oct. 4.—Claims received today against Mrs. Susan Kraus bring the total to more than $400,000. A. W. Lee, attorney for the creditors declared today. "More money has gone there than anywhere else. We now know where some of the money has gone. There are some assets left. One Pomeroy business man holds the notes of the woman for $150,000."

M. A. Kraus, a son, was to be taken before the grand jury this afternoon, upon his arrival from Cleveland, where he had gone in a fruitless effort to arrange bond. His resignation as secretary of the Meigs county building and loan company was announced late yesterday.

Pomeroy, O., Oct. 4.—Did nearly $300,000, received by Mrs. Susan Kraus, for investment from Pomeroy and Meigs County residents go to enrich the bookmakers? This is the question which officials of Meigs County are now trying to solve, following failure to find any property except a mortgaged home standing in the name of the alleged "woman Ponzi" who remains in the county jail here today while the grand jury is expected to return indictments charging embezzlement and forgery.

The theory that "bookies" may have received the greater part of the vast sums entrusted to the woman was advanced in connection with the belief that others besides Mrs. Kraus might have had a part in the disposition of the funds, and the considerable sums spent by her in almost daily telephone calls to Columbus, where it is believed she believes her accomplice lived.

BLANKET INDICTMENT AGAINST FUNDERBURGH AND DEPUTIES RETURNED

Funderburgh, Day, Burns and Simms Also Charged With Shooting With Intent to Kill and Shooting With Intent to Wound.

BOND IS FIXED BY THE COURT AT $2,500

Unanimous Verdict Rendered by 15 Members of Jury In Report Made Public Wednesday Morning—Rev. Culp Also Indicted.

Sheriff Lincoln Funderburgh, Deputy Sheriff Joe Day, William Burns, former manager of Kil Kare Park and a special deputy and Patrolman Charles Simms, were indicted for murder in the second degree in connection with the fatal shooting of Volney Nichols, 18, on the night of September 5, by the Greene County Grand Jury which reported at 10:45 o'clock Wednesday morning.

A joint indictment for second degree murder was returned against the four officers. The fifteen men and women composing the Grand Jury, agreeing in that verdict with the verdict of Dr. R. L. Haines, county coroner, rendered after the inquest here several weeks ago. The four men at that time were released from custody under $2,500 bond each. Sheriff Funderburgh and Mrs. Funderburgh signing all of the bonds.

In addition to the blanket indictment for murder in the second degree, the Grand Jury returned two separate indictments against each of the men. The separate indictments charge shooting with intent to kill and shooting with intent to wound, naming each of the four men specifically, and making a total of nine true bills, found against the four officers out of 16 true bills returned by the jury.

Prosecutor Williamson can elect to prosecute the accused men under any one of the indictments returned against them.

The four men named in the second degree murder indictments were brought before Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and their bonds were each fixed at $2,500 each, the same as fixed at the time the charges were preferred. The same bonds were continued, with the agreement of counsel for the state.

The accused men waived service of a copy of the indictments and also waived reading of the indictments Wednesday afternoon, and on plea of their attorneys, were given until October 14, to prepare and file a motion to quash the indictments. Judge Marcus Shoup, of the defendants' counsel, indicated that defendants' attorneys are preparing an objection on the ground, that the prosecuting witness was allowed in the grand jury room during the investigation and because petitions are being circulated for money to provide a fund with which to retain an attorney to assist the Prosecutor, who was also permitted in the Grand Jury room.

The defendants are represented by a battery of counsel including Judge Shoup, Judge C. H. Kyle, Harry D. Smith and F. L. Johnson. Prosecutor Williamson and Attorney C. L. Darlington represented the state in the Court Room Thursday afternoon.

The indictments represent another chapter in the shooting case on the Wilmington pike on the night of September 5 which resulted in the death of one boy and the serious wounding of two others, when Funderburgh and his three deputies opened fire on a group of boys who were engaged in a practical joke on the pike early in the evening.

Feeling ran high in the community after the affray which cost the life of Volney Nichols, 18, and placed his brother, Dorsey, 16, and Warren Middleton in the hospital for several weeks. A three-day coroner's inquest in which about 50 witnesses were examined developed the testimony that the boys, with five others were engaged in playing a joke on passing motorists with an old auto fire wrapped to resemble a new one, and that they had been fired at by the sheriff's posse without being ordered to halt. Following the coroner's verdict, that the men were not justified in the shooting, the quartette was arrested and bound over to the Grand Jury under $2,500 bond each.

The Grand Jury according to its report, submitted by Charles Kinsey, Xenia Township foreman appointed by the Court, examined 68 witnesses and investigated 11 cases, returning 16 true bills and ignoring one case. Besides the true bills returned against the officers involved in the shooting, the officers involved in the shooting were returned against W. W. Culp, former Spring Valley minister, who eloped with Esther Hughes, June 14, for removing mortgaged property from the county.

The indictment against Culp is based on a charge of removing mortgaged property originally filed in Montgomery County Courts by the Ballard Sales Co., of Dayton, which company holds a mortgage on the machine in which Culp staged his elopement. Culp was arrested on the charge in Dayton recently but later released, the Montgomery Courts being without jurisdiction because the

Milan, Oct. 4.—Extremists have gained control of the Italian socialist party according to word today from Rome, where the annual socialist congress is being held. The "moderate reformists" are said to have been expelled from the party.

Rome, Oct. 4.—A conspiracy of the Italian fascists to seize ministerial power in Rome was reported to have been discovered today. According to the plans the fascists, at the forthcoming celebration of Italy over the defeat of Austria were to mobilize in this city, seize all public buildings, dissolve parliament, call a general election and summon the king to form a new cabinet with nationalist aspirations.

DECLARES COUNTY ROAD SHIFTS SO HE BRINGS SUIT

Claiming that a country road has been constantly diverted until it is now encroaching on his farm, K. E. Ellis, has brought suit in Common Pleas Court enjoining The Board of County Commissioners of Greene County, from carrying out plans to improve the road.

The plaintiff alleges he owns a 160 acre farm in Jefferson township, the north side of which is bordered by a country road originally called the Harness and Bayliff road, and now known as the Mt. Carmel road which is under control of the defendants. The petition declares that heretofore a county road was established intersecting the Hunsley pike on the south, and at its southern end it passed near the line between the lands of Elisha Bales and the lands of the plaintiff.

The plaintiff alleges that in March, 1864, the County Commissioners consented to a petition asking for alteration in the road, and that it was changed to a new route. The new road, the petition says, was established 38 feet wide, 16 1-2 feet to come off each side of said land line. Since that time, declares the plaintiff, the road has been continually diverted and is now almost entirely on the 16 1-2 feet of the plaintiff's land, along the entire 61 rods in length, although stones indicate the location of the line plainly. The plaintiff alleges the commissioners are now planning to improve the road, and that to put it back on the line would find only one obstacle, the necessity of building a four-foot extension to a culvert. He alleges the improvements on the road as it now stands will damage him, and asks for a temporary restraining order and that it be made a perpetual injunction on hearing. M. J. Hartley is attorney for the plaintiff.

ATTORNEY FEES ALLOWED

In the case of Joseph Schmidt against Theresa Schmidt, the Court has overruled the motion of the defendant for attorney fees pending the outcome of the case, but has allowed the defendant's motion for attorney fees amounting to $25.

DECLARES COUNTY ROAD SHIFTS SO HE BRINGS SUIT

Claiming that a country road has been constantly diverted until it is now encroaching on his farm, C. E. Ellis, has brought suit in Common Pleas Court enjoining The Board of County Commissioners of Greene County, from carrying out plans to improve the road.

The plaintiff alleges he owns a 160 acre farm in Jefferson township, the north side of which is bordered by a country road originally called the Harness and Bayliff road, and now known as the Mt. Carmel road which is under control of the defendants. The position declares that heretofore a country road was established intersecting the Hussey pike on the south, and at its southern end it passed near the line between the lands of Elisha Bales and the lands of Arey or Bayliff, now the lands of the plaintiff.

The plaintiff alleges that in March, 1864, the County Commissioners consented to a petition asking for alteration in the road, and that it was changed to a new route. The new road, the petition says, was established 33 feet wide, 16 1/2 feet to center of each side of said land line. Since that time, declares the plaintiff, the road has been continually diverted and is now almost entirely on the 16 1/2 feet of the plaintiff's land along the entire 51 rods in length, although stonies indicate the location of the line plainly. The plaintiff alleges the commissioners are now planning to improve the road, and that to put it back on the line would find only one obstacle, the necessity of building a four-foot extension to a culvert. He alleges the improvements on the road as it now stands will damage him, and asks for a temporary restraining order and that it be made a perpetual injunction on hearing. M. J. Hartley is attorney for the plaintiff.

FIRST MEETING OF JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB HELD

Mrs. Charles E. Fisher, the new president of the Junior Woman's Club was a charming hostess to the members of the club, at a tea, the first social meeting of the club, at the year at her home on West Second Street, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Fisher was assisted in the hospitalities of the afternoon by the other officers of the club and the members of the calendar committee. Mrs. R. Kent Finley, secretary, Mrs. W. Crawford Craig, treasurer and Mrs. Meda Gowdy, Mrs. J. Kenneth Williamson and Mrs. J. Robert Bryson, members of the committee with Mrs. Fisher were the hostesses of the afternoon.

The club members who have enjoyed extensive travels during the summer took part in the informal program of the afternoon, which was opened with a group of songs, by Mrs. Graham Bryson. Mrs. Walter Harner who enjoyed a western trip told the club members, of the points of interest seen on her journey, while Mrs. Meda Gowdy related her visit to Oberammergau, and the Passion Play. Another group of three song numbers by Mrs. Jas. Hawkins accompanied by Miss Stella Bishop was enjoyed by the guests.

The attractive rooms of the Fisher home were gay in their decorations of fall flowers, used in bowls and vases.

SORORITY ELECTS OFFICERS AT MEETING

Miss Olive H. Huston was elected president of the Delta Theta Tau Sorority, at the business meeting and election of officers of the Xenia chapter, held at the home of Miss Mildred Confer, on East Market Street, Monday evening. Other officers elected were: Miss Ethel Miller, vice-president; Miss Gladys Hagler, treasurer; Miss Helen Hickman, secretary; Miss Ruth Arment, sergeant at arms; Miss Corinne Welsh, historian; and Miss Gladys Shadach, press correspondent.

The active members of the sorority will be guests at a Halloween party given by the pledges at the home of Miss Wilfred Zartman, Thursday evening, October 12. The pledge members of the organization, are Miss Wilfred Zartman, Miss Elizabeth Mullen, Miss Lucille Beatty, Miss Olivia Cost, Miss Esther Welsh and Miss Frances Johnson.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY SELECTS DELEGATES

Delegates to the Missionary Conference to be held in Piqua, the first week in November, were appointed by the members of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First M. E. Church, who were entertained at the home of Miss Clara Allen, on East Second St., Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. C. L. Spencer, Mrs. G. A. Scott, Mrs. C. L. Babb and Mrs. George McKee were elected as delegates.

A good attendance marked the meeting of the members, the program of the afternoon being presided over by Mrs. Maude Johnson, the president. Mrs. George H. Geyer led the devotional exercises. An especially pleasing number on the program was a talk on Honolulu by Mrs. D. W. Cosley, concerning her recent travels there. Delicious refreshments were served by Miss Allen.

STILLMAN FINDING WILL BE APPROVED

White Plans, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Strong intimation that he would approve the report of Referee Daniel J. Gleason in the Stillman divorce case was given here today by Justice Morschauer in supreme court. He announced he would render his decision tomorrow.

Justice Morschauer denied a motion of counsel for James A. Stillman former president of the National City Bank objecting to immediate action on Referee Gleason's report. He accepted briefs from Attorneys for both sides but indicated approval of the referee's findings might be taken as a matter of course.

Referee Gleason completely overthrew the contention of Stillman and found for Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, completely establishing the legitimacy of baby Guy Stillman, whose paternity Stillman had denied.

Head, president of the Omaha National Bank, was named first vice-president and William E. Knox, of the Bowers Savings Bank of New York, second vice-president.

FIRE CHIEF URGES PREVENTIVE METHODS IN OBSERVANCE OF WEEK IN XENIA

Xenia's fire prevention program in connection with the celebration of Fire Prevention week this week, will be held in the schools, Thursday, according to Fire Chief L. B. Claire and school authorities.

In connection with the observance of the week, the head of the fire department, issued the following statement Wednesday: "As Fire Chief of your city, I take pleasure in guarding against disastrous fires, loss of life and property. A little precaution from us all can make our city just as safe as any other I have offered a few suggestions both for old and young that will help to eliminate all our worst fire hazards and clean up all germ breeding agencies.

"All we need to do to accomplish this great deed is a little co-operation from one and all. Our insurance rates are based on the condition of our property. The greater the hazard and the greater the insurance premiums. Now let's clean up and reduce this high insurance. Cincinnati started a fire prevention and clean up week in the fall of 1915 and lowered its insurance rates in two years time. If Cincinnati can do this we can lower ours also. Ninety-nine per cent of all fires are caused by carelessness. Most all epidemic are caused from carelessness allowing waste matter to accumulate. We have selected October 2 to 9 for this work and I earnestly hope that everyone will use his or her best efforts to make this week a complete success. After the ninth of October the city will be inspected by firemen in uniform and your efforts will be noted."

The week should be given over to serious study of local conditions, according to Fire Chief Claire, such as the water supply, fire apparatus and conditions of schools and homes. The following is a list of home fire causes he has prepared: "Defective and overheated chimneys; disposal of hot ashes in wooden receptacles; cigarettes and cigarettes carelessly discarded; clothing and curtains exposed to contact with stoves and open flames; lights or hot coals falling from stove; defective electric wiring; explosions due to gasoline and inflammable liquids; starting fires with kerosene and gasoline; defective furnaces and stoves; lamps and lanterns overturned; carelessness in the use of defective furnaces, stoves or lamps; sparks from flues and fire places; burning rubbish without protection; gas leaks; thawing frozen water pipes; woodwork and furniture and other articles exposed to contact with stoves and furnaces."

"Already this year we have lost 195 people by fire and 56 of these deaths were among the kiddies," said Chief Claire. "Four hundred and forty three people have been blinded for life, crippled or badly injured by Ohio fires, and nearly $4,000,000 worth of property went up in smoke the first six months of the year. Care and fire prevention knowledge would have prevented nine out of ten of the tragedies of this year. Fire prevention education would eliminate 85 per cent of all our fires."

A campaign of education among school children in connection with the celebration of Fire Prevention week and the anniversary of the Great Chicago Fire, October 7, will be started by the fire department of school officials with the cooperation of school authorities Thursday morning. Fire Chief Claire and Fireman Roy Reiland will visit all of the schools Thursday and will talk to the children on fire prevention and the elimination of carelessness. After the firemen have talked to the children, they will conduct fire drills, at all the schools and will keep the time taken by the pupils to empty the various buildings.

An inspection of all buildings in the city for fire hazards will be conducted by Fire Chief Claire assisted by firemen in uniform, ten or 15 days, it was said Wednesday. The firemen will investigate fire traps and fire hazards and order owners to clean up rubbish and discarded inflammable material in which fires are liable to break out. It is the belief of Chief Claire that he will have the cooperation of property owners in cleaning up the city, with the result that lower fire rates can be obtained. While these results cannot be accomplished at once if insurance companies see that these fire hazards

XENIA FIREMEN TO GET INSTRUCTION IN FIGHTING BLAZES

Xenia's fire laddies are going to tuck their books and slates under arms and trudge off to school next week.

The first fire-fighting school ever conducted for the benefit of the city's firemen will begin next week under the tutelage of Fire Chief L. B. Claire.

The school which begins next week will be held twice a week temporarily and later will be carried on only once a week. In the school firemen will learn the best methods of approaching, handling and fighting fires and taught things they should know when bucking up against blazes of unknown cause.

The first part of the schooling will be theoretical, according to Chief Claire. The school will be conducted in the Fire Station, and firemen will be given the theory of how to fight the blazes and prevent loss of life and property. Later they will be taken outside and given practical practice sessions with the fire fighting apparatus and equipment.

The school will be similar to those conducted regularly for fire fighters in the city, and the latest, most efficient and safest methods of fighting a blaze. The practical training it is believed of the department here. It will include the rudiments of fighting fires, laying of hose lines how to get into buildings, how to increase water pressure, what kind of nozzle to use, and other information have been eliminated, and that that condition will be maintained they will undoubtedly lower their rates, according to the Fire Chief. If not the Ohio Inspection Bureau can force the rates down, he believed.

Teachers in all city schools will be provided with a list of questions on which to quiz pupils regarding fire prevention Thursday. The questions were prepared by the Fire Chief.

LOCAL WOMAN IS HOUNDED WITH POST

Mrs. Walter Dean, 27 West Market Street, this city, was notified Monday through the Department President, Mrs. Thomas J. Maxwell, of the American Legion Auxiliary, of her appointment as chairman of the state committee to look after the World War Orphans.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. H. V. Christopher, London, Ohio; and Mrs. G. R. Colard, of Mount Washington, Cincinnati. Mrs. Donald Macrae, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, president of the Department of Iowa, is the chairman of the National Committee to look after the World War Orphans.

The Ohio committee will meet for the first time October 17, at the O. S. and S. O. Home this city, to make arrangements for the Christmas activities.

DOUG HOLDS BOW; WHO SHOT ARROW

New York, Oct. 4.—Who shot the arrow that found lodgement in the chest of Abraham Seligman a furrier at 557 Fifth avenue? That is the question which is agitating quite a lot of people today, particularly Seligman.

Light may be thrown upon the mystery by the fact that our old friend Doug Fairbanks, in the person of Robin Hood, is in the city. As a sort of advertisement for his new movie play Fairbanks ascended the roof of the Ritz Carlton hotel (where he and his wife, Mary Pickford Fairbanks are living, and posed upon the balustrade with bow and arrow in hand. There is a photograph to prove this much of the narrative.

But did Fairbanks shoot the arrow that struck Seligman? Fairbanks through his press agent denies that he did so, despite the photograph showing him on the roof top, taking careful aim at the sky with his trusty bow.

In the meantime Seligman is at his home nursing a lacerated chest and vowing he will never attend a performance of Robin Hood.

THINK COAL PRICES WILL BE BOOSTED

Columbus, Oct. 4.—That the action of Gov. Davis in fixing maximum coal prices will result in an immediate boosting of prices by Ohio operators is the prediction voiced here by mine owners.

As a result of the embargo on lake shipments and the alleged buyers strike, demand for coal is at low ebb, the mine owners stated. In an endeavor to keep their mines going, operators have been charging from $2.75 to $3.25 per ton at the mine, it is claimed, the average being approximately $3.00.

These operators expressed belief that practically all Ohio operators now will not charge less than the price fixed by the governor which range from $3.50 to $4.86 per ton.

COUNTRY CLUB TO GIVE DINNER DANCE

The social committee of the Xenia Country Club, issued invitations Wednesday to members of the club, to a dinner dance at the clubhouse, Thursday evening, October 5, at six-thirty o'clock.

Owing to the absence of the president, John Beacham, who was out of the city, the meeting of the Greene County Fish and Game organization Tuesday night, was called off.

APPELLATE COURT HEARS ARGUMENT ON DEBT PROPOSAL

Listens to Appeal Taken by Attorney General From Lower Court.

Columbus, Oct. 4.—Argument is to be submitted today before the Franklin County Appellate Court relative to the appeal taken by Attorney General Price from the action of Common Pleas Judge Kinkhead who issued a permanent injunction ordering Secretary of State Smith to recall from the county election boards the proposed debt limitation and taxation amendments to the state constitution and to keep these proposals off the November ballot. The attorney general claimed Judge Kinkhead is without jurisdiction in the matter. Judge Kinkhead held that the synopsis of the taxation proposal is misleading, that the initiative petitions supporting the proposals were filed with the secretary of state too late to permit their being placed on the November ballot and that the number of valid signatures to the petitions is insufficient.

RUNAWAY BALLOON CARRIES AVIATOR NEAR THIS CITY

An aviator from McCook field, Dayton, had a novel experience last Sunday, while experimenting with a "folding balloon" when the small aircraft drifted from the flying field to the J. S. Van Eaton farm on the Van Eaton road, near this city, and lodged in a tree.

The balloon is a small craft, without a basket, the aviator being attached to it by a harness-arrangement. While testing the balloon at the field, it is thought the men let go of the rope, which allowed the balloon to drift aimlessly without a sand-bag.

Neighbors in the vicinity of the Van Eaton farm noticed the aircraft drifting in the sky, and after it alighted in the tree tops, rescued the aviator. The man returned to Dayton, with the folded balloon, none the worse for his experience.

REPUBLICANS BACK UP HARDING AT STATE CONVENTION

Columbus, Oct. 4.—Ohio Republicans opening their campaign here yesterday, chose to back up solidly both the Harding administration in Washington and the Davis administration in the state.

Former United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge, of Indiana, and the Republican nominee for the senate again in that state, personally commissioned by President Harding to pronounce the principles and issues on which the political battle is to be fought in the president's home state upheld vigorously the economic system instituted by the national administration, and asserted the administration had made progress "unequaled and unapproached during the same time by that of any other existing government."

While Mr. Beveridge was commending the economic policy of national administration, Congressman S. D. Fess, the party nominee for United States senator, praised the administration's foreign policy, hurling a challenge to the Democrats to reject it.

Congressman Fess also reviewed the economic work of the national administration, asserting that "a mere recital of what the situation was when President Harding took office in comparison, or rather in contrast what it is now, is sufficient."

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

Eating too much meat rhy clog Kidneys, then the Back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

nominee, yielding his time to Mr. Beveridge made short work of a carefully prepared speech.

Continuing his pre-primary plea for more business in government with the assertion that Governor Davis had already laid the groundwork, Mr. Thompson said the application of business principles is the only correct method to solve the state's taxation problem.

Interrupted at the outset of his talk by the entrance of a delegation of white uniformed women bearing signs boosting the campaign for the erection of a children's hospital here, Col. Thompson stood mute while the audience cheered.

Resuming, he declared that the Republican party heartily welcomes the women to its ranks as a means of strengthening them.

The large gathering in Memorial hall staged a great demonstration voicing its approval of the messages delivered by the speakers. Mention of President Harding's name always brought a round of applause, and reference to the work of Gov. Davis The governor was not able to preside at the rally and this duty fell upon Senator Frank B. Willis.

Senator Willis compared government affairs when Harding took hold to a housewife's ball of yarn which had been tangled up by a "little mangy kitten."

"It took the housewife a day and a half to undo five minutes work of the kitten," he said, "and consequently you could not expect a Republican administration in a year and a half to undo the work which its predecessor had been at for eight years."

"Already this year we have lost 195 people by fire and 56 of these deaths were among the kiddies," said Chief Claire. "Four hundred and forty three people have been blinded for life, crippled or badly injured by Ohio fires, and nearly $4,000,000 worth of property went up in smoke the first six months of the year. Care and fire prevention knowledge would have prevented nine out of ten of all the tragedies of this year. Fire prevention education would eliminate 85 per cent of all our fires."

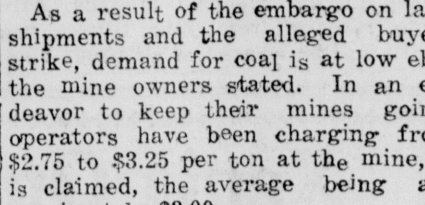

A campaign of education among school children in connection with the celebration of Fire Prevention Week and the anniversary of the Great Chicago Fire, October 7, will be started by the fire department officials with the cooperation of school authorities Thursday morning. Fire Chief Claire and Fireman Roy Ireland will visit all of the schools Thursday and will talk to the children on fire prevention and the elimination of carelessness. After the firemen have talked to the children, they will conduct fire drill at all the schools and will keep the time taken by the pupils to empty the various buildings.

An inspection of all buildings in the city for fire hazards will be conducted by Fire Chief Claire assisted by firemen in uniform, ten or 15 days, it was said Wednesday. The firemen will investigate fire traps and fire hazards and order owners to clean up rubbish and discarded inflammable material in which fires are liable to break out. It is the belief of Chief Claire that he will have the cooperation of property owners in cleaning up the city, with the result that lower fire rates can be obtained. While these results cannot be accomplished at once if insurance companies see that these fire hazards have been eliminated, and that that condition will be maintained they will undoubtedly lower their rates, according to the Fire Chief. If not the Ohio Inspection Bureau can force the rates down, he believed.

Teachers in all city schools will be provided with a list of questions on which to quiz pupils regarding fire prevention Thursday. The questions were prepared by the Fire Chief.

LOCAL WOMAN IS HUNCHED WITH POST

Mrs. Walter Dean, 27 West Market Street, this city, was notified Monday through the Department of President, Mrs. Thomas J. Maxwell, of her appointment as chairman of the state committee to look after the World War Orphans.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. H. V. Christopher, London, Ohio; and Mrs. G. R. Colard, of Mount Washington, Cincinnati.

Mrs. Donald Macrae, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, president of the Department of Iowa, is the chairman of the National Committee to look after the World War Orphans.

The Ohio committee will meet for the first time October 17, at the O. S. and S. O. Home this city, to make arrangements for the Christmas activities.

APPELLATE COURT HEARS ARGUMENT ON DEBT PROPOSAL

Lists to Appeal Taken by Attorney General From Lower Court.

Columbus, Oct. 4.—Argument is to be submitted today before the Franklin County Appellate Court relative to the appeal taken by Attorney General Price from the action of Common Pleas Judge Kinkadee who issued a permanent injunction ordering Secretary of State Smith to recall from the county election boards the proposed debt limitation and taxation amendments to the state constitution and to keep these proposals off the November ballot. The attorney general claimed Judge Kinkadee is without jurisdiction in the matter. Judge Kinkadee held that the synopsis of the taxation proposal is misleading, that the initiative petitions supporting the proposals were filed with the secretary of state too late to permit their being placed on the November ballot, and that the number of valid signatures to the petitions is insufficient.

RUNAWAY BALLOON CARRIES AVIATOR NEAR THIS CITY

An aviator from McCook field, Dayton, had a novel experience last Sunday, while experimenting with a "folding balloon" when the small aircraft drifted from the flying field to the J. S. Van Eaton farm on the Van Eaton road, near this city, and lodged in a tree.

The balloon is a small craft, without a basket, the aviator being attached to it by a harness arrangement. While testing the balloon at the field, it is thought the men let go of the rope, which allowed the balloon to drift aimlessly without a sandbag.

Neighbors in the vicinity of the Van Eaton farm noticed the aircraft drifting in the sky, and after it alighted in the tree tops, rescued the aviator. The man returned to Dayton, with the folded balloon, none the worse for his experience.

REPUBLICANS BACK UP HARDING AT STATE CONVENTION

Columbus, Oct. 4.—Ohio Republicans opening their campaign here yesterday, chose to back up solidly both the Harding administration in Washington and the Davis administration in the state.

Former United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge, of Indiana, and the Republican nominee for the senate again in that state, personally commissioned by President Harding to pronounce the principles and issues on which the political battle is to be fought in the president's home state upheld vigorously the economic system instituted by the national administration, and asserted the administration had made progress "unequaled and unapproached during the same time by that of any other existing government."

While Mr. Beveridge was commending the economic policy of national administration, Congressman S. D. Fess, the party nominee for United States senator, praised the administration's foreign policy, hurling a challenge to the Democrats to reject it.

Congressman Fess also reviewed the economic work of the national administration, asserting that "a mere recital of what the situation was when President Harding took office in comparison, or rather in contrast what it is now, is sufficient."

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

Eating too much meat may clog Kidneys, then the Back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backaches and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

nominee, yielding his time to Mr. Beveridge made short work of a carefully prepared speech.

Continuing his pre-primary plea for more business in government with the assertion that Governor Davis had already laid the groundwork, Mr. Thompson said the application of business principles is the only correct method to solve the state's taxation problem.

Interrupted at the outset of his talk by the entrance of a delegation of white uniformed women bearing signs boosting the campaign for the election of a children's hospital here, Col. Thompson stood mute while the audience cheered.

Resuming, he declared that the Republican party heartily welcomes the women to its ranks as a means of strengthening them.

The large gathering in Memorial hall staged a great demonstration voicing its approval of the messages delivered by the speakers. Mention of President Harding's name always brought a round of applause, and reference to the work of Gov. Davis. The governor was not able to preside at the rally and this duty fell upon Senator Frank B. Willis.

Senator Willis compared government affairs when Harding took hold to a housewife's ball of yarn which had been tangled up by a "little mangy kitten."

"It took the housewife a day and a half to undo five minutes work of the kitten," he said, "and consequently you could not expect a Republican administration in a year and a half to undo the work which its predecessor had been at for eight years."

FARMER'S WAGES VS. BRICKLAYER'S PAY.

"Bricklayers are demanding $1.50 an hour—and lay only 300 bricks a day. The board is unanimous in saying that such figures don't look good with ninety-cent wheat or from the farmer's standpoint."

Commenting on the foregoing, E. Davenport, Dean of the College of Agriculture of the University of Illinois, has this to say:

"The above is a verbatim extract from a country newspaper in a mid-Western farm community that is trying to build a schoolhouse, wherein its children may learn the duties of citizenship and the way in which the world is put together. We should say that the board which rejected all bids is right in its objection to 300 bricks for a $12 day, when the wheat, which must pay the bills, is selling in the local market at ninety cents a bushel."

"A dollar and a half an hour for union labor means $12 for a day that begins three hours after the farmer has gone to work and ends two to three hours before he is done. It means not only that it costs $40 a thousand to lay the brick, or four to five times what good brick used to cost, but it means that a bushel of wheat will lay only twenty-two and one-half bricks, or a row less than sixteen feet long. It means that the bricklayer in one day of eight hours will earn (that is, obtain) the full product of an acre of average wheat that cost the farmer twelve to fifteen hours' labor of himself and teams—not to mention the investment in lands and tools, or the item of taxes, insurance, repairs and such other expenses as confront the enterpriser. If the cost of the brick is also considered, it all means that a bushel of wheat will put less than a dozen bricks in the wall."

"No wonder the farmer cannot build schoolhouses at this rate! But the question is: How, then, shall his children be schooled; where shall they be sheltered, and how will he and his wife feel about it—and perhaps vote when the time comes? Here is something for our militant unionists to think about."

"WHAT A COUNTRY!"

Sixty-seven years ago last Tuesday, at about 1 o'clock in the afternoon and in the town of Cleveland, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., went to work for $4 a week. He climbed on a high stool as many a clerk has before and since and made entries in a ruled book.

Later he looked around, and among the opportunities of a continent he found his own. When the golden soup began to rain he was under the shower with an oil can instead of a two-tined fork.

From $4 for six days' work to what the name of Rockefeller has come to mean in finance, industry, relief and research the wide world round measures a little of the span of opportunity in America. Said an Irishman, born in the level lands back of Dublin, who once was young but now is come to middle age:

I came to America, seventeen years old, with eighty-five cents in my Dublin breeches. I went to an uncle in Baltimore who was without chick or child and he gave me $5 a week and wanted to make me his heir. He died worth $7,000,000 years after. Had I stayed—but I wanted to see the country. I did. I saw Oklahoma when it was raw, new and young, but my feet itched. I soldiered for Uncle Sam and grew sun-dried at desert posts. There was opportunity everywhere, but I wandered and weaved about, dodging the shower of gold that always is falling everywhere in America. I am an expert dodger, a vagabond and a born wastrel, but I have not been able to dodge it all. Almost in spite of myself, I'll die in a clean bed of my own and under a roof of my own. It's the only land in the world for an upstanding man with two feet under him, two hands at the ends of his arms and two eyes in his head. What a country, and there's never been anything like it!

It is all of that. It was so yesterday, is so today and will be tomorrow. John D. Rockefeller proved it more ways than in his oil wells, pipe-lines and deep-sea tankers. So, too, has many another man to a degree in accordance with his capacity, his energy and the smiles of Lady Luck.

"AS A MAN THINKETH IN HIS HEART SO IS HE."

A prominent business authority remarks that "business activity in this country is very largely dependent on the way people feel."

That is quite true and it is an illuminating commentary on present conditions.

American business in recent months has been pretty good, and improving pretty steadily, in spite of conditions that on the face of them seemed to make improvement impossible. Ordinarily the coal and railroad strikes, political and economic troubles in Europe, the slump in export trade, etc., would have had a very depressing effect on enterprises. But construction, manufacture, investment and employment kept right on growing. And the stock exchange, usually regarded as a trustworthy barometer of business conditions, kept right on registering higher quotations. This condition still continues, in the face of the European crisis precipitated by the Turks.

It is an exemplification of the old truth, "as a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." Likewise a nation. And here is the key to the famous remark made by the elder J. P. Morgan, that anybody who would be "a bear on the United States of America" was a fool.

The American people are full of energy and normally optimistic. Their periods of optimism are longer and stronger than their periods of pessimism. After a recent gloom bath, they have turned cheerful again. Their cheerfulness has liberated their energies as usual and nothing of an untoward nature, at home or abroad, can dampen their ardor or stop their progress while this mood is on them.

OWN YOUR HOME.

The own your own home campaigns which received a set-back when the hard times struck, are being revived in many communities. In one city intensive methods are to be followed for arousing general interest in the subject.

Plays and movies centering around home ownership are to be shown at leading play houses. Civic and trade organizations are uniting to work out schemes for financing building and buying projects. Leading papers will run articles on all sorts of subjects dealing with the ownership of property, financial suggestions, building plans and the relation of home ownership to citizenship and business.

There could be no healthier evidence of any community's restoration to normal thinking and decent prosperity than such a campaign. The community which thinks as a unit about home ownership and makes it an objective for united activity is well on the way to the settlement of many of its problems.

A body of home owners is not merely a collection of citizens on the road to individual prosperity. It is on the way to complete social solidarity and will be correspondingly free from the upheavals which affect areas with a floating population.

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

Last Thursday was an eventful day in the life of Margaret Gehagen, of Spring Valley, it being her first trip to Dayton, although she had lived in Spring Valley half a century. She was the guest of Mrs. Clarence Fulkerson at a trolley party and was shown the Soldiers' Home and other attractions of the Gem City.

The street sprinkler for Xenia has the softest, snap of any man in the city just now. When he comes around to collect for keeping the dirt down, the money is paid over with a grim smile, while his subscribers cast an eye out over the street in front of their business houses.

The football game which was played at the golf links Saturday afternoon by the Dayton Central Juniors and the Xenia High School ended with the score 5 to 0 in favor of Xenia.

The vote on local option at Cedarville on Saturday resulted in an overwhelming vote against the saloons. The "drys" won by a vote of 219 to 95.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR ..

There is one beauty question that is always coming up—"what can I do to be rid of superfluous hair?" It is one of the hardest questions to answer because there is only one permanent cure for this affliction, and that is only possible to women living in large cities. That is the electric needle treatment, which is costly and tedious. I know of no other treatment, I am convinced is permanent, though know of many for which that claim is made.

If you think the superfluous hairs on your face are really a disfigurement, and if you can go to a really good electric needle specialist, by all means do so. The most up-to-date method is the multiple needle process which claims to remove about 50 hairs an hour, of which only about 10 percent come back to require a second treatment. The single needle process is really almost too slow to bother with. If you cannot go to a multiple needle process specialist, I would advise you to take half an hour every few weeks sit in front of your mirror with a good pair of tweezers and see what you can do for yourself. Some of the new "cures" consist of a variety of medicated wax which is plastered over the skin while soft and which hardens slightly holding the large hairs and even the light invisibles, down with a vice-like grip. The sufferer whom I think rightly named, pulls off the wax and the hairs are pulled out with it. Some of these preparations are mercifully mixed with something to deaden the sensation.

The hairs, of course, grow in again since only those coming above the surface of the skin have been affected. M. S. L.—Bobbed hair is as much in favor now as it has been for the past three years.

Billie:—Since you dislike milk I do not think it would agree with you to drink it. Try to get its equivalent in other foods. Take plenty of butter and olive oil in the salad dressing while you try to get a great deal of milk in all of your cooked food.

Margaret:—I shall be glad to mail you a diet list and full directions for reducing if you send a stamped addressed envelope repeating the request.

Mary Jane:—As you did not state what color your hair is I cannot advise you how to make it darker.

Jinny:—All shades of red will be as fashionable this fall as they have been during the past months. After you recover from your illness your skin will be cleared of all these blemishes. Borax should be used sparingly in shampooing as it makes the hair very brittle.

INFORMATION MAY LEAD TO CAPTURE

Dayton, Oct. 4.—With the arrest of four men and one woman, Dayton police believe they have obtained information that will lead to the arrest of the slayer of Frank Harnish, 42, Union City, who was stabbed about the head with a knife, and died without making a statement that would clear the mystery of his attack.

The five people arrested are said by police to have been in the cafe operated by Mike Haas, East Third street, when Harnish was injured there. Harnish is said to have engaged in a fight in Haas' saloon with an unidentified man, which led to the stabbing.

SUCH IS LIFE

"Eighteen years ago I had three ribs broken, fourteen years ago my right leg; eleven years ago I nearly went over with typhoid fever, and since then have had awful stomach and liver trouble. Was filled with gas most all the time. I would have cold attacks so bad as to become unconscious. No medicine helped me and doctors advised an operation. One day talking with a stranger he recommended May's Wonderful Remedy, which helped me at once." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sayre & Hamphill and drug gists everywhere.

HELPING OUT.

Old Dad Spindle's years are eighty, and he toiled toward his shack, with a bundle large and weighty nearly ruining his back. I could see his vigor dwindle as he labored up the road, so I said, "Oh, Gaffer Spindle, let me pack your heavy load." So I heaved it to my shoulder and it weighed a half a ton, and I felt a cycle older when the grievous task was done. But it gives one satisfaction if at evening he can say, "I have pulled a lofty action in the progress of the day." When the shopworn sun is sinking and the hues of daytime fade, by my banyan I sit thinking of the boneheads I have played. I am prone to costly blunders, dizzy breaks I daily pull, till my Aunt Sophronia wonders why my wits must gather wool. And I groan, myself reviling, for the way I've muffed the ball, but enjoy some harmless smiling when Dad Spindle I recall. I have helped one fellow critter, and that memory is great, forcing recollections bitter to vamoose and move their freight. So one kindly deed will lighten all the record of the day, and I have my private heaven while such recollections stay.

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

FAITH AND UNDERSTANDING

Never mind if there are many things that come up in your reading and observation and daily thinking that not only confuse you but benumb your understanding.

That's a part of your moral and spiritual education.

If you understood everything, you wouldn't want to KNOW anything! The great God understood this and that is why He put so many things in the world for us to discover, to strive for, and to solve.

Faith is the path through which you must go to reach all understanding.

And the finest faith in the world is that faith which keeps pulling you out of your own little petty spheres and leading you into newer and greener pastures where you may grow strong in the service of others.

Understanding cannot be divorced from faith, for faith is a requisite for understanding.

What a series of restless experiences your whole life would be without faith! When the storm clouds came you would think that they would last forever, and when you would retire at night time you would spend restless in-hours for you would not know whether you would ever rise for work and happiness again.

The Bible's definition of faith is pregnant with expression—"The substance of things hoped for; the evidence of things unseen."

And the more faith you have, the more you will understand.

You understand because you believe.

Every voluntary action on your part is the result of faith. How could you induce the workman to proceed with his work were it not for the fact that he believes you will keep your word with him and will pay for his efforts? For his toll he gets food, a little pleasure and comfort, and these things in turn for any who may be dependent upon him.

We do big things because we have better understanding of our own abilities than anyone else, and we have faith that others will come to our side soon or later in full appreciation of our achievements.

Faith enables you to see beyond—understanding enables you to see with.

Their cheerfulness has liberated their energies as usual and nothing of an untoward nature, at home or abroad, can dampen their ardor or stop their progress while this mood is on them.

OWN YOUR HOME.

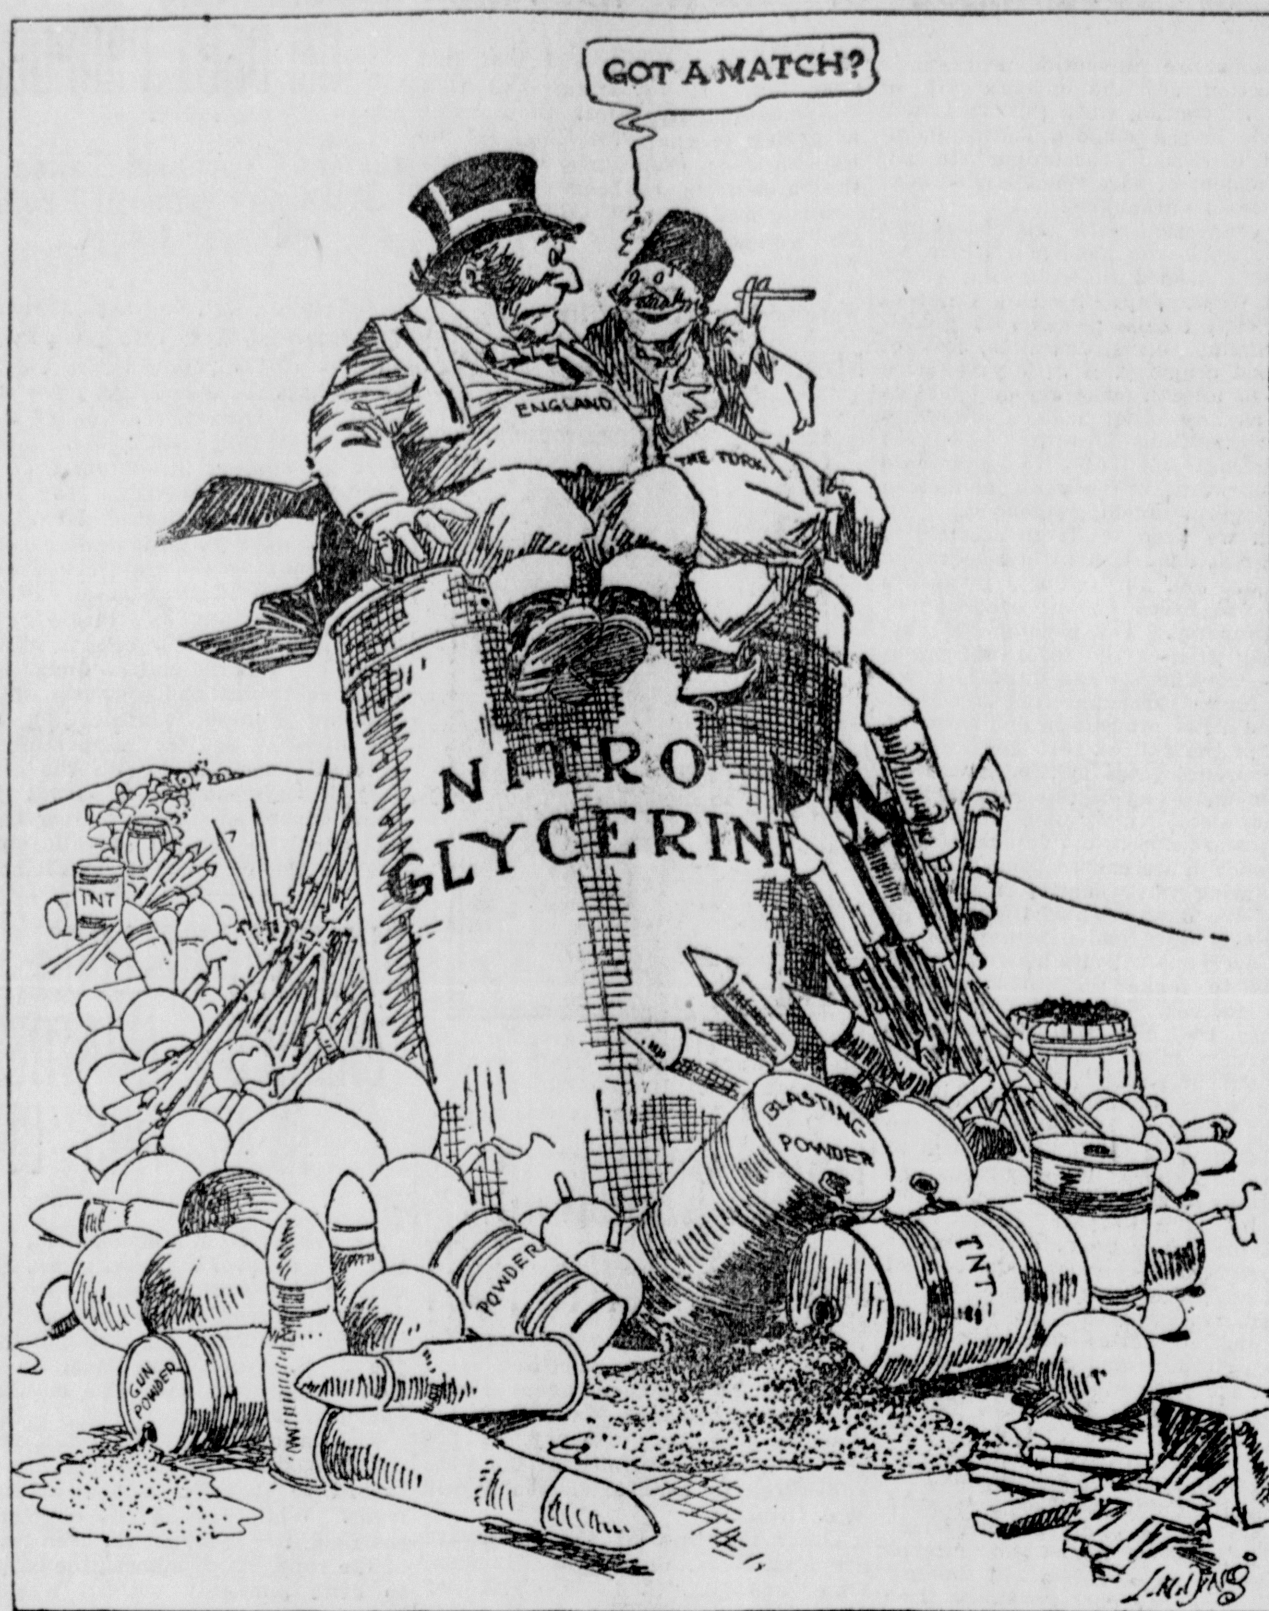

The own your own home campaigns which received a set-back when the hard times struck, are being revived in many communities. In one city intensive methods are to be followed for arousing general interest in the subject.

Plays and movies centering around home ownership are to be shown at leading play houses. Civic and trade organizations are uniting to work out schemes for financing building and buying projects. Leading papers will run articles on all sorts of subjects dealing with the ownership of property, financial suggestions, building plans and the relation of home ownership to citizenship and business.

There could be no healthier evidence of any community's restoration to normal thinking and decent prosperity than such a campaign. The community which thinks as a unit about home ownership and makes it an objective for united activity is well on the way to the settlement of many of its problems.

A body of home owners is not merely a collection of citizens on the road to individual prosperity. It is on the way to complete social solidarity and will be correspondingly free from the upheavals which affect areas with a floating population.

DANGER! NO SMOKING

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

Last Thursday was an eventful day in the life of Margaret Gehagen, of Spring Valley, it being her first trip to Dayton, although she had lived in Spring Valley half a century. She was the guest of Mrs. Clarence Fulkerson at a trolley party and was shown the Soldiers' Home and other attractions of the Gem City.

The street sprinkler for Xenia has the softest snap of any man in the city just now. When he comes around to collect for keeping the dirt down, the money is paid over with a grim smile, while his subscribers cast an eye out over the street in front of their business houses.

The football game which was played at the golf links Saturday afternoon by the Dayton Central Juniors and the Xenia High School ended with the score 5 to 0 favor Xenia.

The vote on local option at Cedarville on Saturday resulted in an overwhelming vote against the saloons. The "drys" won by a vote of 219 to 95.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

There is one beauty question that is always coming up—"what can I do to be rid of superfluous hair?" It is one of the hardest questions to answer because there is only one permanent cure for this affliction, and that is only possible to women living in large cities. That is the electric pull off the wax and the hairs are pulled out with it. Some of these preparations are carefully mixed with something to deaden the sensation.

The hairs, of course, grow in again since only those coming above the surface of the skin have been affected. M. S. L.—Bobbed hair is as much in favor now as it has been for the past three years.

Billie:—Since you dislike milk I do not think it would agree with you to drink it. Try to get its equivalent in other foods. Take plenty of butter and olive oil in the salad dressing while you try to get a great deal of milk in all of your cooked food.

Margaret:—I shall be glad to mail you a diet list and full directions for reducing if you send a stamped addressed envelope repeating the request.

Mary Jane:—As you did not state what color your hair is I cannot advise you how to make it darker.

Jenny:—All shades of red will be fashionable this fall as they have been during the past months. After you recover from your illness your skin will be cleared of all these blem-needle treatment, which is costly and tedious. I know of no other treatment, I am convinced is permanent, though many of many for which that claim is made.

If you think the superfluous hairs on your face are really a disfigurement, and if you can go to a really good electric needle specialist, by all means do so. The most up-to-date method is the multiple needle process which claims to remove about 50 hairs an hour, of which only about 10 per cent come back to require a second treatment. The single needle process is really almost too slow to bother with. If you cannot go to a multiple needle process specialist I would advise you to take half an hour every few weeks sit in front of your mirror with a good pair of tweezers and see what you can do for yourself.

Some of the new "cures" consist of a variety of medicated wax which is plastered over the skin while soft and which hardens slightly holding the large hairs and even the light invisible, down with a vice-like grip. The sufferer whom I think rightly named ishes. Borax should be used sparingly in shampooing as it makes the hair very brittle.

INFORMATION MAY LEAD TO CAPTURE

Dayton, Oct. 4.—With the arrest of four men and one woman, Dayton police believe they have obtained information that will lead to the arrest of the slayer of Frank Harnish, 42, Union City, who was stabbed about the head with a knife, and died without making a statement that would clear the mystery of his attack.

The five people arrested are said by police to have been in the cafe operated by Mike Haas, East Third street, when Harnish was injured there. Harnish is said to have engaged in a fight in Haas' saloon with an unidentified man, which led to the stabbing.

SUCH IS LIFE

"Eighteen years ago I had three ribs broken, fourteen years ago my right leg; eleven years ago I nearly went over with typhoid fever and since then have had awful stomach and liver trouble. Was filled with gas most all the time. I would have colic attacks so bad as to become unconscious. No medicine helped me and doctors advised an operation. One day talking with a stranger he recommended May's Wonderful Remedy, which helped me at once." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sayre & Hemphill and drug gists, everywhere.

HELPING OUT.

Old Dad Spindle's years are eighty, and he toiled toward his shack, with a bundle large and weighty nearly ruining his back. I could see his vigor dwindle as he labored up the road, so I said, "Oh, Gaffer Spindle, let me pack your heavy load." So I heaved it to my shoulder and it weighed a half a ton, and I felt a cycle older when the grievous task was done. But it gives one satisfaction if at evening he can say, "I have pulled a lofty action in the progress of the day." When the shopworn sun is sinking and the hues of daytime fade, by my banyan I sit thinking of the boneheads I have played. I am prone to costly blunders, dizzy breaks I daily pull, till my Aunt Sophronia wonders why my wits must gather wool. And I groan, myself reviling, for the way I've muffed the ball, but enjoy some harmless smiling when Dad Spindle I recall. I have helped one fellow critter, and that memory is great, forcing recollections bitter to vamoose and move their freight. So one kindly deed will lighten all the record of the day, and I have my private heaven while such recollections stay.

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

FAITH AND UNDERSTANDING

Never mind if there are many things that come up in your reading and observation and daily thinking that not only confuse you but bembur your understanding.

That's a part of your moral and spiritual education.

If you understood everything, you wouldn't want to KNOW anything! The great God understood this and that is why He put so many things in the world for us to discover, to strive for, and to solve.

Faith is the path through which you must go to reach all understanding.

And the finest faith in the world is that faith which keeps pulling you out of your own little petty spheres and leading you into newer and greener pastures where you may grow strong in the service of others.

Understanding cannot be divorced from faith, for faith is a requisite for understanding.

What a series of restless experiences your whole life would be without faith! When the storm clouds came you would think that they would last forever, and when you would retire at night time you would spend restless hours for you would not know whether you would ever rise for work and happiness again.

The Bible's definition of faith is pregnant with expression—"the substance of things hoped for; the evidence of things unseen."

And the more faith you have, the more you will understand.

You understand because you believe.

Every voluntary action on your part is the result of faith. How could you induce the workman to proceed with his work were it not for the fact that he believes you will keep your word with him and will pay for his efforts? For his toll he sees food, a little pleasure and comfort, and these things in turn for any who may be dependent upon him.

We do big things because we have better understanding of our own abilities than anyone else, and we have faith that others will come to our side soon or later in full appreciation of our achievements.

Faith enables you to see beyond—understanding enables you to see within.

SPRINGFIELD MAN KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Springfield, Oct. 4.—Ellis Hunter, 26, of 2636 East High Street, Springfield, driver employed by the Springfield Laundry Company, was killed instantly about eight o'clock Tuesday night, when the Dodge touring car he was driving turned over on the Springfield Dayton, Pike five miles north of Dayton, Road Gravenkemper 45, South Burnett road, Springfield, Hunter's companion, escaped with minor injuries.

Officials said Hunter suffered a fractured skull, and that hemorrhages resulting from the fracture caused his death instantly. It was thought probably that his neck was broken.

Early Tuesday evening Hunter took his car from a Springfield garage, where it had been left for repairs and picked up Gravenkemper for a test run. Montgomery County deputy sheriffs who were following the car, said it was travelling 55 miles per hour. There was a slight curve in the road where the accident happened, and it is assumed that Hunter was not acquainted with the route. The car skidded over a four foot embankment and is said to have turned over three times.

Both occupants were pinned beneath the machine.

NEW PASTOR OF BAPTIST CHURCH HERE

Rev. R. E. Brown, general evangelist of the Ohio Baptist Convention, arrived in this city Tuesday evening, to begin his work as acting pastor of the First Baptist Church for the next three months.

CLERK MUTILATED PETITIONS, CHARGE

Dayton, Oct. 4.—Charged with mutilating petitions presented at City Hall asking the recall of the commission-manager form of government, E. L. Fletcher, clerk of the Dayton City Commission, was arrested Tuesday and later released on $200 bond.

The warrant, signed by William E. Stewart, was issued by W. K. Boda, chief clerk, under threat of mandamus from A. A. Hawthorne, Troy, attorney, who is handling the case for the Taxpayers Protective Association, after Prosecuting Attorney Cecil had refused to approve the affidavit. The affidavit charges that Fletcher mutilated the petition by separating it into several sections, and fixes the value of the petition at $80.

Fletcher declared that he separated the petition under instructions from City Attorney John B. Harshman, in order to facilitate the work of checking up the signatures. He denied having made any changes in the petition.

Field work in checking up the names on the Silvey petition shows that many of the persons whose name appears on the petition did not sign them, and affidavits to this effect are being obtained. Perjury charges may also be filed against circulators of the petitions.

Sharp, piercing pains shot through the small of my back and I could hardly straighten after stooping. Colds settled on my kidneys, leaving them extremely weak and irregular in action. Nights I got up four or five times to pass the secretions which were highly colored and contained a sediment like brick dust. Doan's Kidney Pills had been so highly recommended that I got some. Several boxes relieved me of those terrible pains in my back and my kidneys were put in a normal condition."

CLERK MUTILATED PETITIONS, CHARGE

Dayton, Oct. 4.—Charged with mutilating petitions presented at City Hall asking the recall of the commission-manager form of government, E. L. Fletcher, clerk of the Dayton City Commission, was arrested Tuesday and later released on $200 bond.

The warrant, signed by William E. Stewart, was issued by W. K. Bodt, chief clerk, under threat of mandamus from A. A. Hawthorne, Troy, attorney, who is handling the case for the Taxpayers Protective Association, after Prosecuting Attorney Cecil had refused to approve the affidavit.

The affidavit charges that Fletcher mutilated the petition by separating it into several sections, and fixes the value of the petition at $80.

Pletcher declared that he separated the petition under instructions from City Attorney John B. Harshman, in order to facilitate the work of checking up the signatures. He denied having made any changes in the petition.

Field work in checking up the names on the Silvey petition shows that many of the persons whose name appears on the petition did not sign them, and affidavits to this effect are being obtained. Perjury charges may also be filed against circulators of the petitions.

PAINT AND VARNISH PRODUCTS

Remove the "Blindfold" Habit Has Tied Over Our Eyes

DAILY association oftentimes makes us so familiar with the rooms we live in that we no longer really see them.

Examine your home today. Be as critically open to new impressions as a stranger. You will be amazed—shocked—to discover how much deterioration and ugliness has crept in unnoticed.

In a hundred places, indoors and out, here—there—everywhere, you will see spots that are worn, shabby, warped—spots where the beauty and value of your home are being destroyed.

Open your eyes to the immediate need of paint and varnish products in your home. And when you buy paint and varnish products, buy only the best.

Devole products are time-tested and proven, backed by the 168 years' experience of the oldest paint manufacturing concern in the U. S. Founded 1754.

FIRST MEETING OF MUSIC CLUB HELD

The home of Mrs. William H. McGervey, on East Second Street, was opened to the members of the Xenia Woman's Music Club, at the first meeting of the club year, Monday afternoon.

The paper of the afternoon was read by Mrs. J. Robert Bryson, who chose for her topic "Current Events in Music." The musical program enjoyed by the club members consisted of a series of groups of songs and piano numbers, the masterpieces of artists being chosen for the afternoon.

Miss Helen Whittington opened the program with a group of songs, "The White Birch," by Alma Goatey; and "Love is the Wind," by Alexander McFadyen.

One piano number was given by Miss Martha Smith, who played "Wellensiel" by Rudolph Ganz, the number being given with artistic finish by Miss Smith.

A group of duets, by Miss Emma Davidson and Mrs. Mary M. Meredith, was enjoyed next the three numbers being "Bonny Piper Tune," by Harvey Worthington Loomis; "Laughter Wears a Lillied Gown," by Gena Branscombe, and "Sundown" composed by Miss Davidson.

Miss Martha Smith again appeared before the club circle, in a piano solo, "Concert Etude," by McDowell.

The last group was given by Miss Davidson, who favored the club with another of her compositions, "The Dance," and "The Cave," by Edwin Schneider.

PLANNING FOR YOUR HALLOWEEN PARTY

The following splendid letter was sent to me by a reader to help other women who are planning a Halloween Party for their sons or daughters and indeed it will be a help, I am sure.

"The following party was given by a High School girl to her friends. When the guests arrived, they found the house lighted only with Jack o' lanterns (later on however we turned on the lights.) Three boys, wrapped in sheets, received the guests; one of them stood at the front door to answer the bell and, with a low bow and sweep of the arm, to point silent and the second boy, who stood at the foot of the stairs; this second boy pointed to the stairs where the third boy was stationed. And of course the third boy pointed the girls to one dressing room and the boys to another.

The ghostly atmosphere was further sustained in this way: in the girls' dressing room, a little girl was hidden under the bed, to reach out and pinch the legs of the girl guests; this of course brought screams and laughter. Another little girl was hidden in a closet of an adjoining room where she groaned in the most terrifying fashion!

When all the guests were gathered in the living room, lemonade was served at once. We had put a tripod from which hung a large iron pot. Under the pot was a red light for a flame and kindlings. In the pot was a crock full of lemonade. Two girls dressed as witches, came into the room singing, "Double, Double, toil and trouble," and one of them stirred the lemonade for a few minutes. Then sherbet glasses were produced and everybody was served with the drink.

The lights were then turned on and games played. One of the games we made up ourselves, as follows:

We bought thin writing paper and bought some thin writing paper and cut it into short strips which were not much wider than between the lines of ruled writing paper; on these strips we wrote original predictions which might apply to either sex. We cut two slips in each little paper and pushed the end of a hen feather through them. On the evening of the party, a boy mounted a chair, announced that everybody was to scramble for a fortune-paper, and requested any guest who happened to pick up more than one, to give one of the slips to a guest who had none (as there were only as many slips as there were guests.) Then, still on the chair, this boy scattered the fortune slips.

At the supper hour, we matched up the couples in this way: Each boy was given a bow and arrow. On a sheet, which hung over a blackboard, we had pinned pieces of paper cut in the shape of bats (the animal, not a baseball bat.) On the under side of each paper bat was written a girl's name. The boys took turns shooting at these bats and someone stood near enough to the sheet to see which one was hit. Of course the boy took to supper the girl whose name he found written on the under side of the paper bat he had hit; as we had a buffet supper, he filled the girl's plate as well as his own."

What They Cost

What does it cost to feed a child?

Sometimes little, sometimes much. That depends on the food they get.

The premier food for a child is oats, you know. Mothers for ages have known that.

And the finest oats that grow—just the cream of fine oats—cost less than a cent a dish.

Food value is measured by calories. In Mother's Oats, 1,000 calories cost 5 cents.

Those 1,000 calories, in the average meat dish, cost nine or ten times that.

Those are reasons for serving Mother's Oats. They are called Mother's Oats because children love the flavor.

Insist on this quality—make the oat dish delightful—if you believe in oats.

FIRST CLINIC OF KIND TO BE HELD THURSDAY IN XENIA

Plans are laid for the first Psychopathic Clinic ever held in Ohio which will be staged Thursday at the Elks Club under the auspices of the Greene County Medical Society.

The clinic will be held in connection with the regular meeting of the Medical Society, and will begin at nine o'clock in the morning. Dr. E. A. Baber, head of the Dayton State Hospital, and Dr. E. M. Baehr, chief of the Bureau of Juvenile Research at Columbus, will conduct the clinic assisted by Miss Natalie Merrill, Field Organizer for the Bureau of Juvenile Research and Mrs. Madge Frank, field worker for the Dayton State Hospital.

Officials of the Greene County Chapter, American Red Cross and of the Social Service League, are lending their support to the movement and assisted Miss Merrill in making a survey of the county to obtain information of people who should attend the clinic. The purpose of the clinic is to furnish a follow up examination of mentally afflicted people who have been reported cured in the state institution and to find the extent of this cure.

A Stubbish Cough

Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

TRACK MILEAGE VALUATION IN GREENE COUNTY FIVE TIMES GREATER THAN IN 1902 ALTHOUGH DECREASE IS SHOWN

Although track mileage in Greene County has decreased in the last 20 years, the valuation of steam and electric railroads in the County, is almost five times as great now as it was then, according to Tax Deputy C. B. Mowrer.

Old files of the Gazette, for the year 1902, show that the total valuation of all railroads in the county at that time was $1,234,508, while Mr. Mowrer's figures show that the total valuation for 1922 of all railroad properties in Greene County, is $5,028,890.

And this increase in total valuation in spite of the fact that the Pennsylvania System here has not erected a new depot, nor improved the one that was old in 1902. The mileage included in the 1922 report includes 141.45 miles of steam and railroad tracks and 20.47 miles of electric railroad tracks. In 1902, there were 103 of main steam lines and 45 miles of sidings, and 35 miles of traction lines in the county.

The Pennsylvania Company has the greatest mileage of steam roads in the county and therefore the highest valuation on the tax duplicate. The Dayton Branch of the Pennsylvania System includes 13.21 miles of track in Greene County, valued at $608,240. The Springfield branch has 14.95 miles of track in Greene County and the valuation is $519,150 while the Cincinnati division, representing the through line between Cincinnati and Columbus that passes through this county boasts of 47.58 miles of track in the county for a total valuation of $2,039,570 or more than the entire railroad valuation in 1902. These figures show that the Pennsylvania Company operated 75.74 miles of track in Greene County, totally valued at $3,166,960.

People who forget about the "Grasshopper" Division of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad, which begins somewhere up in Fayette County and drifts languidly across one corner of Greene County before it comes to a rest at Kingman, in Clinton County, will not remember that Henry Ford, Detroit manufacturer of a popularly known automobile is a taxpayer in Greene County, but such he is. The "Grasshopper" Railroad was included in the deal by which Mr. Ford purchased the D. T. & I. and 6.67 miles of that road lies

NATURE HELPS HEAL NELLIE'S SORROW Chapter 87

Even though Nellie felt she had done right, she was saddened, and often wept over her lost romance; always at night so that Mrs. Roberts would not be worried, would not think her ungrateful. The big, rambling country house, the lawn, the old trees, the flowers all delighted her. She never had left New York since the day so long ago when she arrived with Miss Carter's old straw suit case. It was almost like a new world and in spite of her heartache she enjoyed herself.

For her heart did ache. It had not been easy to give up the man she loved; whom she looked up to; who typified all that was fine and good to her. Never had it been his money or his social position that held her. Those had formed the stumbling block in her way, one that had grown so huge she felt she never could get over it. And because she was honest, wished for his happiness as well as her own, she had unselfishly put him out of her life.

"Maybe he'll marry Miss Dorothy now," she would say when at night she would grieve. "She's his kind."

So grateful was she to Mrs. Roberts that she would not show any sorrow during the day. She devoted herself to the old lady and they took long rides along the country roads. Nellie driving a gentle old horse while Mrs. Roberts talked to her of her own childhood.

She not only loved but thoroughly admired Nellie, her force of character. She had been exposed to many temptations—that Mrs. Roberts knew—and had kept herself clean and good. Her beauty, her high spirits made her attractive to everyone who knew her; but they were also a lure to those who cared nothing but for the passing moment. That she had kept herself the same innocent girl she had been when she left Hudson Corners to make her own way in the world, Mrs. Roberts was sure. Her motherly heart yearned over the girl, who never had known a mother's care.

"As long as I live she shall have a friend," she said to herself.

The weeks fairly flew. Nellie had regained her color, and grieved less at night. Seeing the good it was doing her Mrs. Roberts prolonged their stay another two weeks.

"Six weeks in this heavenly place!"

Nellie exclaimed when told, "Oh how wonderful! Shall I ever be able to settle down and work again?"

"You'll work all the better for a little play spell," Mrs. Roberts returned. Nellie had said nothing of her plans, what she intended to do, and Mrs. Roberts had asked no questions. But now she said:

"Have you anything in view, Nellie?"

"No, I think perhaps I shall go with Cora. I hate to be in the same building again," she flushed hotly, "but beggars can't be choosers, you know."

"How would you like to have a private place, more private than is a down town office. I have a friend who is at the head of a charitable organization. I have written her and she needs a secretary. The pay isn't quite as much as you have been getting but the surroundings are nice and refined. What do you say?"

"I say I take it!" Nellie threw her arms impulsively about Mrs. Roberts' neck. "I have been wondering if I could go back where I would see him. It would be hard at first. Maybe he would be embarrassed too."

"Then I'll write that you will take the position."

"Please, if you think I can do the work satisfactorily."

"I know you can, and the office isn't so far from the house. You can walk back and forth. That will be a saving as well as good for your health."

"I hope some day I can do something for you; something to repay you—show you how I love you," Nellie returned, her eyes filling. She would not have to ask for reference from Mr. George, so Mrs. Roberts assured her. She would be saved all embarrassment, have a nice situation and be able to remain in the house with Mrs. Roberts. Her clothes were all in order, the best she ever had had.

"It's a good thing I didn't buy a white dress and all the fixings," she said rather ruefully to herself. "They wouldn't be any use to me and all I did get are plain enough to wear."

FIRST CLINIC OF KIND TO BE HELD THURSDAY IN XENIA

Plans are laid for the first Psychopathic Clinic ever held in Ohio which will be staged Thursday at the Elks' Club under the auspices of the Greene County Medical Society.

The clinic will be held in connection with the regular meeting of the Medical Society, and will begin at nine o'clock in the morning. Dr. E. A. Baber, head of the Dayton State hospital, and Dr. E. M. Baehr, chief of the Bureau of Juvenile Research at Columbus, will conduct the clinic assisted by Miss Natalie Merrill, Field Organizer for the Bureau of Juvenile Research and Mrs. Madge Frank, field worker for the Dayton State Hospital.

Officials of the Greene County Chapter, American Red Cross and of the Social Service League, are lending their support to the movement and assisted Miss Merrill in making a survey of the county to obtain information of people who should attend the clinic. The purpose of the clinic is to furnish a follow up examination of mentally afflicted people who have been reported cured in the state institution and to find the extent of this cure.

A Stubbish Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

TRACK MILEAGE VALUATION IN GREENE COUNTY FIVE TIMES GREATER THAN IN 1902 ALTHOUGH DECREASE IS SHOWN

Although track mileage in Greene County has decreased in the last 20 years, the valuation of steam and electric railroads in the County, is almost five times as great now as it was then, according to Tax Deputy C. B. Mowrer.

Old files of the Gazette, for the year 1902, show that the total valuation of all railroads in the county at that time was $1,234,588, while Mr. Mowrer's figures show that the total valuation for 1922 of all railroad properties in Greene County, is $5,038,890.

And this increase in total valuation in spite of the fact that the Pennsylvania System here has not erected a new depot, nor improved the one that was old in 1902. The mileage included in the 1922 report includes 141.45 miles of steam and railroad tracks and 20.47 miles of electric railroad tracks. In 1902, there were 103 of main steam lines and 45 miles of sidings, and 35 miles of traction lines in the county.

The Pennsylvania Company has the greatest mileage of steam roads in the county and therefore the highest valuation on the tax duplicate. The Dayton Branch of the Pennsylvania System includes 13.21 miles of track in Greene County, valued at $608,240. The Springfield branch has 14.95 miles of track in Greene County and the valuation is $519,150 while the Cincinnati division, representing the through line between Cincinnati and Columbus that passes through this county boasts of 47.58 miles of track in the county for a total valuation of $2,039,570 or more than the entire railroad valuation in 1902. These figures show that the Pennsylvania Company operated 75.74 miles of track in Greene County, totally valued at $3,166,960.

People who forget about the "Grasshopper" Division of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad, which begins somewhere up in Fayette County and drifts languidly across one corner of Greene County before it comes to a rest at Kingsman, in Clinton County, will not remember that Henry Ford, Detroit manufacturer of a popularly known automobile, is a taxpayer in Greene County, but such he is. The "Grasshopper" Railroad was included in the deal by which Mr. Ford purchased the D. T. & I. and 6.67 miles of that road lies in Greene County and is valued at $40,020.

The Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway, known as the "Big Four" passes through the northern part of the county, touching Osborn and throwing 9.04 miles of its track in Greene County totally valued at $300,460. The N. Y. P. & O. Railway, known as the Erie, also hits Osborn in the northern part of the county and maintains 6.55 miles of tracks in this county, the total valuation being $383,120. The Baltimore and Ohio, which passes through Xenia and Jamestown on its way from Dayton to Wellston, is next in rank of railroad properties in Greene County to the Pennsylvania System. The B. & O. maintains 32.65 miles of tracks in this county and the total valuation is $717,030. The B. & O. is the last steam road on the list and completes a total of 130.67 miles of tracks operated by steam railroads in this county.

The rest of the total is made up by the traction lines. The Springfield and Xenia Traction Company has 10.78 miles of tracks in this county and the total value of that property is $119,660. The Indiana, Columbus and Western Traction Company, which passes through Osborn, Greene County's other railroad metropolis, has 6.62 miles of track in the County and the total value of its properties here is $76,080. The Dayton, Springfield and Xenia Traction Company operating the familiar D. & X. has 13.85 miles of tracks in the County and its total valuation is $274,560.
